FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1913

If Mr. George Fitch had been almost anywhere in North Carolina Wednesday and Thursday he would an entirely different idea about North Carolinian's ability to do things.

The JOURNAL is a little late this week but we believe we have an excellent reason, for we have all been working on the roads.

Be sure to read that article by Prof. Dean that appears in this issue of the JOURNAL. Read it. Sit down and meditate over it. Then read it again. It strikes rock bottom and in it you may read the future of the county, state and nation. In which class is your child? Do a little thinking and acting before it is too late.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK.

When I die I do not want it said of me that he amassed great riches that he was wiser than other men or that he attained high honors, but if it can be truthfully said that he made the world better by his having sojourned here or that he helped to lighten the burden of his fellowman or that his smile helped to weld a broken heart or cheer a weary traveler, then I shall not have lived in vain.

From this elevation you could not quite see the fur flying in the New York mayoralty fight, but you could smell the stench all right.

A feeling of genuine joy and a renewed hope for the ultimate triumph of good government arose in the heart of every champion of right and pure politics in the United States when it became known that the Tammany organization was defeated in the New York election Tuesday. If not slain, the Tammany Tiger is badly crippled and the people rejoice at the stinging repudiation of Chief Murphy and his tribe. Mayor-elect Mitchell declared the result was not a personal triumph, but a victory for the cause of good government. "I shall be mayor for all the people of New York and not for any faction, division," he declared in a statement.
"I have but one ambition, and that is to make New York city the best governed city in America." When Mr. Mitchell arrived at fusion headquarters he was asked: "What are you going to do about Murphy?"
"By not recognizing either him or any one connected with him, I am going to do all I can to drive him out of business."

The work that has been done on the roads of Jackson county this week will be a source of pride for years to come. "By their work we shall know them" and the majority of folks certainly did work and they accomplished something. It is estimated that $10,000 worth of work was done and aside from the material results the patriotism and public spirited interest in the welfare of the county thus expressed cannot be measured in dollars and cents but will tell in the future of the county. We are a united people working to a common good, placing Jackson county in her proper place among the leaders of the State. Much credit is due the men who answered the call of the Governor and we must not forget to extend the appreciation of the men to the ladies for their moral support and for the excellent dinners they served. The women of North Carolina have never failed at any crisis and have again been weighed in the balance and not found wanting.

The News and Observer again all attention of the people of the State to the advisability of the State issuing insurance on the lives of her citizens.

This is a question that deserves the consideration of the people, as we view it it would eliminate the question of old age and widows pensions, the state issuing insurance policies at cost would enable the people to secure insurance for less money than they do now and would cost the state nothing. The news and Observer says;

Wisconsin passed the law in 1911.
The first policies under it were issued Monday of this week by the Wisconsin Insurance Department.
The law was modeled on similar laws in Germany, Great Britain, Italy and Belgium. No policy is issued for more than one thousand dollars. When the number of policy holders reaches one thousand, the maximum policy issued will be for two thousand dollars and when the number of the insured reaches two thousand the maximum policy will be for three thousand dollars, this latter being the limit under any circumstances.

SUMMER TIME.

A mountain summer is a vocal time With lips of earth and stream and sky
Joining a chorus, varied, rich Sometimes based on the thunder's roar.
That dies away into short, sharp notes

Piccola like, accompanied By Nature's grand organ-chime—The wind,
While birds and beasts and whispering tress

With myriad insects everywhere Swelling the rhythm hour by hour Till one feels again as in days of old That angels are listening from cloistered heights

With enraptured ears attuned to hear The sweetest music Nature sings—A summer lullaby in the woods.
Irristable waves of melody roll From peak to peak across the glenn Giving tongue to leaf and limb As the rarefied air of azure-heights Sweep across the cragland's brow In perfumed music and breath of fields,

That flies away in the summer air To where the star-eyes peep through snowy clouds,

Till over it all there gently drops One deep, tranquil, crystalline sea Of glory, whose surges settle down Into the valley with a quiet peace Unequaled in any other spot of earth,

As June unrolls resplendent skies And in her wild delirium-dance Wakes the mock-bird from his dreams

And starts that reckless song of his,
One bar in God's great anthem call.
Made up of winds that ripple the leaves

And winged mouth-harps in the air.
AUTUMN TIME.

Looking back today across the years I see the trellis above the door And the pale-blue morning-glories there

Swinging, clinging with dving hand While autumn blows its first cool breath.

Tides of sunshine ebb thru the trees While winged troubadours chant their hymns.

Crickets creech in the evening hush And the running brooks reflect the sky.

Pearly mists enwrap the hills And chinquapins open by the side of the road.

Thistle-down drifts like fleecy clouds And frosted fern leaves turn to gold.
The cloudy clusters of ripened grapes

Sway mid festoons grayish white That swings in glory from the limbs Where swamp-vines all the year, And ripen their berries in the autumn time.

The fading pink and the falling leaf With wild flags nodding along the branch

FEEL RIGHT ALL THE TIME.

DON'T LET PERIODICAL SPELLS OF LAZY LIVER RUIN YOUR TEMPER AND SPOIL YOUR WORK.

If your liver doesn't behave right all the time—if it sometimes stops working and you become bilious and "headachy"—don't take calomel, but try Dodson's Liver Tone.

You are safe in taking Dodson's Liver Tone. It's a harmless, pleasant vegetable remedy that starts the liver without stirring up your whole system as calomel often does.
It is especially good for children who need a liver tonic once in a while, but who should not be dosed with strong drugs.

Dodson's Liver Tone is sold by the Sylva Pharmacy. This store guarantees it with a clean, open and shut guarantee—your money back with a smile if it fails to satisfy you. Price, 50 cents a bottle and your money is as safe as if you had it in your pocket. If you need the medicine you need it badly—if it doesn't satisfy you—your money back. Buy bottle from the Sylva Pharmacy today under this guarantee.

FLAGGED TRAIN WITH SHIRT.

Tearing his shirt from his back an Ohio man flagged a train and saved it from a wreck, but H. T.
Atton, Raleigh, N. C., once prevented a wreck with Electric Bitters. "I was in a terrible plight when I began to use them," he writes, "my stomach, head, back and kidneys were all badly affected and my living was in bad condition, but four bottles of Electric Bitters made me feel like a new man." A trial will convince you of their matchless merit for any stomach, liver or kidney trouble. Price 50 cents at all druggists.

NOTICE OF SALE.
